

Past and present: A short history of futronic

1972 futronic GmbH is founded by Gerhard Funk in Tett nang

1978 The MP-ST – our first IS machine control system – enters into service

1982 Move to new premises in Schäferhof Industrial Park

1986 futronic becomes a subsidiary of Oberland Glas AG in Bad Wurzach. Bernt Küstner takes over the management

1987 futronic presents the CIMOG as the successor to the MP-ST

1992 Expansion of the Schäferhof facility

1997 futronic's QM system is certified to DIN EN ISO 9001

2001 futronic's QM system is certified to DIN EN ISO 9001:2000 and DIN EN ISO 14001:1996

2004 Managing Director Bernt Küstner goes into retirement after 18 years at futronic and is succeeded by Michael Preuss and Wolfgang Lachmann

2004 futronic launches the new FMT24S IS machine control system

2006 futronic GmbH is acquired by Jetter AG

2008 Move to new premises in Tett nang's Bürgermoos Industrial Park

2012 futronic celebrates its 40th anniversary

2012 Cooperation with Austrian partner Forma Glas – and a successful start for the new Tableware division

2013 Construction work is completed on the extension of the company premises in Bürgermoos. Total investment: nearly one million euros

2015 Approximately 35 percent of futronic's total turnover is achieved in the Industrial Automation division with projects for clients outside the container glass industry

2016 futronic invests around 50,000 euros in a new classroom that brings the Training Centre in Tettwang right up to date

2018 Wolfgang Lachmann, Managing Director Development & Technology, retires from active professional life after some 30 years at futronic. Michael Preuss and Christian Benz take over at the helm

2018 futronic creates even more shop floor capacity with the acquisition of a flat-roofed building on an adjacent site to house a harness manufacturing machine, equipment for making small devices and part of the company's development activities

2020 futronic invests in a photovoltaic system with a capacity of around 100 kWp, including a charging point to supply electricity to employees' electric cars

2020 futronic rounds off its portfolio of drive technologies for IS machines with a new servo pusher, servo invert and servo take-out

2022 futronic celebrates its 50th anniversary